

Launch of the new diamond open access journal ZML: Zeitschrift für Mathematische Logik und Grundlagen der Mathematik.

7 April 2025

The editors of the newly founded English-language journal ZML: Zeitschrift für Mathematische Logik und Grundlagen der Mathematik have the pleasure to announce today's launch of the journal. We, the editors of ZML, support true open access removing all barriers to access and believe that the scientific content of research journals must be under the sole control of the academic community and should be free from any commercial or profit-oriented influence.

ZML publishes original research papers of high mathematical quality in all areas of mathematical logic, primarily in English. The editors invite everyone in the global research community to submit their papers to the new journal.

ZML is an electronic Diamond Open Access research journal: the journal is available openly and free of charge to authors and readers anywhere in the world, independently of their institutional affiliations. In the spirit of true open access, all papers are published under the Creative Commons license CC-BY 4.0 International. ZML uses the submission system EditFlow that was designed by mathematicians for mathematicians.

The launch of a new journal, especially one that provides its services free of charge, is not possible without massive support from institutions and people. Indexing, digital hosting and preservation, as well as assignment of ISSN and DOIs is provided by Cambridge University Library. Management, provision of EditFlow, and typesetting are generously financed by the support of some members of the editorial board. Last, but not least, the scientific quality of the journal is guaranteed by the enormous volunteer effort of authors, editors, and referees. We thank all institutions and people who provide crucial support for the new journal.

The editors of ZML are greatly looking forward to receiving your research papers for consideration for publication in ZML. You can find more information, including a link to the submission webpage, at
